

FACTS

WHAT DOES LAUREL ROAD BANK DO WITH YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security number and checking account information
- overdraft history and payment history
- account transactions and account balances

When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?

All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information; the reasons Laurel Road Bank chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

Who we are

Who is providing this notice?

LAUREL ROAD BANK

What we do

How does Laurel Road Bank protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. We also limit access to your account to only those employees who need to know that information to properly maintain and service your account.

How does Laurel Road Bank collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you

- open an account or use your credit or debit card
- pay your bills or apply for a loan
- make deposits or withdrawals from your account

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you
